With illegal drug activity escalating in Macon County, the 15th Judicial Drug Task Force in a joint effort with the Lafayette Police Department launched “Operation Ridge Runner” on Wednesday, July 11th by rounding up individuals who have been indicted by the Grand Jury for various drug charges.

Also assisting were officers from the Trousdale County Sheriffs Department and the Smith County Sheriffs Department, along with Sheriff Ray Russell, Chief Deputy Wayland Cothron, and Sheriff Steve Hopper.

Chief Amalfitano said that 17 of those indicted had been picked up as of Monday morning, July 16th and the investigation to find the other suspects is ongoing.

“The Lafayette Police Department was used as headquarters,” stated Chief Amalfitano, “and once the suspects and the evidence was processed, they were immediately transported to the Macon County Jail by various officers.”

According to the Drug Task Force, this operation culminated after a year-long investigation into the fast growing drug problem in our area. They believe this operation was successful because everyone worked together well and the suspects were apprehended without incident.

“I’m very proud of the officers for all their hard work and dedication,” said the Chief. “This is a very dangerous job and when we broke them up into teams after a brief prayer, I immediately began worrying about their safety.”

“This is just the tip of the iceberg,” said Amalfitano, “and we will continue this ongoing process for as long as it takes. This is definitely not the end of the drug war in Lafayette.”
