A major local drug sweep by Sheriff Mark Gammons began on Friday, March 28, 2014, as officers began acting on indictments handed down by the Macon County Grand Jury, upon the investigation of the past few months by the Macon County Sheriffs Department. They started bringing in the individuals charged.

According to Sheriff Gammons the cases involve the sell and or distribution of cocaine, methamphetamine, marijuana and numerous different types of narcotics, which were in pill form. "This is one of the many ways that the Sheriffs Office is continuing to fight the drug problems that face the county citizens and their children. We are dedicated to the fight against illegal drugs and keeping them out of our community."

"I would like to thank all the deputies and correctional officers for their hard work on these particular cases in fighting the drug problem," said Sheriff Gammons. "I would also like to thank the Lafayette Police Department and the Red Boiling Springs Police Department for their continued support in fighting drugs and with their help during the sweep."

Chief Deputy Bryon Satterfield said during the sweep there was approximately 60 cases made concerning illegal narcotics. "Approximately 20 suspects were arrested, several vehicles were seized along with other property such as money and cash."

Sheriff Gammons added that if anyone has any information concerning criminal activity at any time or any concerns, feel free to contact him at the Macon County Sheriffs Office. You can remain anonymous.
